Islam and Disability
Islam and Disability: Perspectives in Islamic Theology and Jurisprudence

PROEFSCHRIFT

ter verkrijging van
de graad van Doctor aan de Universiteit Leiden, op gezag van Rector Magnificus prof.mr. P.F. van der Heijden, volgens besluit van het College voor Promoties te verdedigen op woensdag 27 februari 2008
klokke 16:15 uur

door
Mohammed Ghaly
Geboren te Damro, Egypte
1976
Promotiecommissie

Promotor: Prof.dr. P.S. van Koningsveld

Referent: Prof.dr. R. Peters (Universiteit van Amsterdam)

Overige leden: Prof.dr. H.L. Beck (Universiteit van Tilburg)

Prof.dr. L.P.H.M. Buskens

Dr. A.F. de Jong
to my wife, Karima

to my cute twins, Khadija and Maryam

to my mother, Fawziyya

&

to the memory of my father, Mostafa

with all love and gratitude
Table of Contents

Acknowledgments .............................................................................................................. xi

Chapter One: Introduction ................................................................................................. 1
  1.1 United Nations Organization: Global Interest in People with Disabilities .......... 1
  1.2 Religion and Disabilities ......................................................................................... 2
  1.3 Islam ......................................................................................................................... 5
    1.3.1 Modern Studies on the Position of People with Disabilities in the Islamic Normative Sources ................................................................................................. 7
  1.4 Research Question, Methodological Approach and Focus ................................. 14
    1.4.1 Islamic Theology ............................................................................................... 15
    1.4.2 Islamic Jurisprudence (Fiqh) .......................................................................... 18
  1.5 Structure and Organisation of the Study ................................................................. 22
  1.6 Terminology Used ................................................................................................. 37
    1.6.1 English Usage ................................................................................................. 38
    1.6.2 Arabic Usage .................................................................................................... 40

PERSPECTIVE IN ISLAMIC THEOLOGY

Chapter Two: Speculative Theology ............................................................................... 47
  2.1 Introductory Remarks ............................................................................................. 47
    2.1.1 Sufis ................................................................................................................ 51
    2.1.2 Philosophers .................................................................................................... 53
  2.2 Anti-Theodicy Approach ....................................................................................... 56
  2.3 Pro-Theodicy Approach ......................................................................................... 58
    2.3.1 Afflictions Befalling those with Legal Liability (Mukallaftūn) ......................... 61
    2.3.1.1 Wise Purposes (Hikam) .............................................................................. 65
    2.3.1.2 Deserved Punishment ............................................................................... 65
    2.3.1.3 Divine Assistance (Lutf) ......................................................................... 66
    2.3.1.3.1 Compensation (‘Iwād) ........................................................................... 69
    2.3.2 Afflictions Befalling those without Legal Liability (non-Mukallaftūn) ......... 70
    2.3.2.1 Adherents of Metempsychosis (Ashāb al-Tanāsukh) ............................... 70
    2.3.2.2 The Majority View .................................................................................... 72
    2.3.2.2.1 Divine Assistance (Lutf) .................................................................... 72
    2.3.2.2.2 Compensation (‘Iwād) ............................................................................... 73
  2.4 Middle-Course Approach ....................................................................................... 73
    2.4.1 Afflictions Befalling those with Legal Liability (Mukallaftūn) ......................... 77
    2.4.1.1 Disabilities: Punishment for Sins Committed? ............................................. 77
    2.4.1.2 Gaining Reward (Tahṣīl al-Thawālī) and Elevating the Ranks (Raf‘ al-Darajāt) ............ 83
    2.4.1.3 A Faith-Test .............................................................................................. 86
    2.4.2 Afflictions Befalling those without Legal Liability (non-Mukallaftūn) .......... 87
    2.4.2.1 A Proof of God’s Existence and Oneness ................................................. 88
    2.4.2.2 Realizing God’s Threats and Promises in the World to Come .................. 90

Chapter Three: Practical Theology ............................................................................... 91
  3.1 Servitude (‘Ubūdiyya) ............................................................................................ 91
  3.2 Patience (Sabr) ..................................................................................................... 93
  3.3 Gratitude (Shukr) .................................................................................................. 97
Acknowledgments

The great pleasure of bringing this work to an end does not make me forget the great help generously offered by many.

I am grateful for the financial support of the Prince Salman Center for Disability Research (PSCDR) which made it possible for me to conduct this research.

As for help on the scientific level, a huge number of people have been involved such as Islamologists, Muslim scholars, specialists in the field of disability studies and officials from international organizations and many others especially those affiliated to the United Nations Orignations (UNO). I hereby submit my gratitude to them all and my apologies for having no space to name them all by name.

On the social level, great support has been given by many friends, again too many to list here. However, my junior colleague Abdurraouf Oueslati should be mentioned by name. His sincere and fruitful efforts spared me a lot of time and energy especially in the final stage of finishing this work.

A final note is reserved for my family. The support given by my wife and colleague Karima Joudi is too generous to be repaid. My cute twins, Maryam and Khadija, have been a very fine addition in my life which was a source of great motivation and inspiration during my work. Finally, a note of gratitude is due to my mother whose constant support, kindness and tenderness can never be duly expressed leave alone be rewarded.

Mohammed Ghaly,
Leiden, December 6, 2007