Curriculum Vitae

Murari Kumar Jha was born in the village Kahua in the Darbhanga district of Bihar in 1977. He did his BA (Honours) in history at Bhagalpur University, Bihar, and subsequently moved to Jawaharlal Nehru University, New Delhi, in 1999 to pursue his higher studies. He studied Medieval Indian History at JNU between 1999 and 2006. At JNU his research interest focused mainly on the merchant communities of medieval Gujarat. In 2005 he passed the National Eligibility Test, a compulsory examination that makes one eligible to teach in Indian universities. Between 2006 and 2009 he received the Encompass-fellowship at Leiden University and earned BA and MA/MPhil degrees and learned the Dutch language. In 2009 he was awarded a three-year position as Assistent in Opleiding (AIO) within the framework of the Encompass-programme to pursue a PhD degree. In October 2012 he received a postdoctoral fellowship at the Department of History, National University of Singapore. He will commence his postdoctoral research from 1 July 2013.
