Introduction

Postage stamps and related objects are miniature communication tools, and they tell a story about cultural and political identities and about artistic forms of identity expressions. They are part of the world's material heritage, and part of history. Ever more of this postal heritage becomes available online, published by stamp collectors' organizations, auction houses, commercial stamp shops, online catalogues, and individual collectors. Virtually collecting postage stamps and postal history has recently become a possibility. These working papers about Africa are examples of what can be done. But they are work-in-progress! Everyone who would like to contribute, by sending corrections, additions, and new area studies can do so by sending an email message to the APH editor: Ton Dietz (dietzaj@asc.leidenuniv.nl). You are welcome!

Map about the situation 1859-1884
Quick History: Natal was a British crown colony in south-eastern Africa between 1843-1910. The Capital was Pietermartizburg, and the population was 1,200,000 in 1908. South Africa region in 1884-Natal in yellow. The British had annexed the Boer colony of Natalia in 1843, not without some misgivings by the Boer settlers, and administered Natal from Cape Colony until 1856. Population growth was initially small, at least in part because of the powerful Zulu presence. Stamps for Natal were issued from 1857-1909. A sugar industry were established in Natal, and over 150,000 indentured Indians arrived in Durban harbor to work the plantations. When Mahatma Gandhi arrived in Durban in 1893, Whites were outnumbered by Indians in the colony...In 1910, Natal was united with Cape of Good Hope, Orange Free State, and Transvaal to form the Union of South Africa.”

Natal, a brief history

“The Colony of Natal was a British colony in south-eastern Africa. It was proclaimed a British colony on 4 May 1843 after the British government had annexed the Boer Republic of Natalia, and on 31 May 1910 combined with three other colonies to form the Union of South Africa, as one of its provinces. It is now the KwaZulu-Natal province of South Africa. The Indians who were brought to this country from India called it 'Netaal Tapu' (island of Netal).

It was originally only about half the size of the present province, with the north-eastern boundaries being formed by the Tugela and Buffalo rivers beyond which lay the independent Kingdom of Zululand (KwaZulu in Zulu). The present province was also enlarged by the addition of Griqualand East to the south.

Fierce conflict with the Zulu population led to the evacuation of Durban, and eventually the Boers accepted British annexation in 1844 under military pressure. A British governor was appointed to the region and many settlers emigrated from Europe and the Cape Colony. The British established a sugar cane industry in the 1860s. Farm owners had a difficult time attracting Zulu labourers to work on their plantations, so the British brought thousands of indentured labourers from India. As a result of the importation of Indian labourers, Durban became the home to the largest concentration of Indians outside of India”.

Postage Stamps of Natal

“The first stamps of Natal were issued on 26 May 1857. They were uncoloured designs embossed in plain relief on coloured wove paper and were imperforate. The first stamps of Natal after these were issued in 1859, with the Chalon portrait of Queen Victoria. Between 1869 and 1895, postage stamps of 1859-67 and fiscal stamps were overprinted 'POSTAGE' in various styles or additionally surcharged 'Half-Penny'. Stamps of King Edward VII were issued between 1902 and 1909. Six official stamps of King Edward were also issued”

“Although Natal was one of the earliest in the field of issuing stamps, it never enjoyed the popularity and appreciation received by other classic issues, such as world's first stamp "Penny Black" in 1840 or even Cape of Good Hope issues of "Cape Triangulars" in 1853.

This could be due to the fact that at the beginning there was no proper postal services in Natal until 1850, when the first Government Post Offices were established on February of that year, at the capital Pietermaritzburg, D'Urban, Bushman’s River (later Estcourt) and Klip River (later Ladysmith). Prior to that, the postal facilities were limited as they were established by various missionaries. Other “Private Post Offices” were also created between Pietermaritzburg and Durban, in March 1846, by Natal Witness newspapers which were mainly used by their subscribers. More government post offices were opened initially Pinetown, Richmond, Verulam, Howick, Mooi River, Colenso, Weenen, Sterkspruit (later Caversham), Greytown, Umhlali, Umtonto and Isipingo by 1859. By 1880 the number of post offices in Natal had passed over 70. This saw the end of private postal services.

With the opening of the government post offices, the public had the option to use pre-paid stamps at a lower cost of than non-prepaid rate:

- local letters were charged at 1d per half ounce with pre-paid as compared to 4d for non-prepaid
- overseas letters were charged at 6d per half ounce and these needed to be pre-paid
- the solders’ letters bearing the signature of the commanding office, had a preferential rate of 1d, this was also the case for newspapers

However on the introduction of postage stamps in 1857, pre-payment of the postages was made obligatory for all letters.

“Postal services were organised from 1845 to 1850 by the Natal military garrison and by The Natal Witness newspaper, but these were suppressed by the colonial government in 1850 which set up its own service from Pietermaritzburg to Durban, initially using hand-struck markings and in May 1857 introducing adhesive stamps. The first issues were embossed in relief on various colours of paper and thus do not reproduce well."

“NATAL. A British settlement was founded in 1824 in what is now Durban (formerly D'Urban). In 1839 Afrikaans speaking Voortrekkers established the Natalia Republic in this area. On 4 May 1843 the territory was proclaimed as the British Colony of Natal. In 1897 Zululand was annexed to Natal. On 31 May 1910 Natal became a province in the Union of South Africa. Natal stamps were first issued on 26
May 1857. From 19 August 1910 till 31 December 1937 stamps of Natal were valid for use in any part of the Union of South Africa.”

http://www.filat.ch/images/pictures/bsruv056.jpg “1855 Neat small format envelope to London bearing an excellent blue strike of Durban Crown over Natal datestamp of 11 MR. The "8" rating mark reflects the ship letter postage of 8d per ½oz paid to the Cape only (It was not possible to _prepay postage further from Natal). Couple minor imperfections, a lovely example of this early mail, scarce. ^As Natal's postal markings developed it had become desirable to reflect date of handling within the implements. The first dated handstamp was this circular postmark containing a crown at top, NATAL at base and the date in the middle. It is accepted that this canceller type was only used at the Durban post office and introduced in late 1853.^”

http://www.filat.ch/images/pictures/qprksv6cw.jpg “c1852 Wrapper from Pietermaritzburg to Cape Town endorsed "per the Sir Robert Peel" and rated at "1/4" being the rate for carriage by coastal vessel to Cape Town. Bears VF bold strike in red of the elusive boxed PREPAID oblong handstamp as used at the General Post Office in Pietermaritzburg. Very rare, connoisseur's exhibition piece, this being the example illustrated by Hart, Kantey & Leon.”

Natal 1857

According to http://www.philatelytoday.com/NatalStamps.html “The first Natal stamps were issued in 1843 on coloured wove papers. These were a set of 7 embossed stamps ranging from the 1d value up to 1s. When used on cover, these stamps were mostly pen cancelled”. However, all other sources report that the embossed stamps started to be issued in 1857, and continued up to 1861.

Shown below is the 1876 Natal 1 Shilling (green) stamp with "Postage" overprint. The stamp was overprinted locally. The overprint is very similar to an overprint used in the first issue of the stamp of 1869. The 1869 overprint is quite rare, only 60 are known to have been overprinted, making the 1869 variety quite valuable. The watermark for both issues of the stamp is a crown over "CC" and both have a perforation of 14. The watermark is illustrated below the stamp face illustration”

1909 Parcels Stamp Railways N.G.R. = Natal Government Railways

“The Natal Government Railways (NGR) was formed in January 1877 in the Colony of Natal. In 1877 the Natal Government Railways acquired the Natal Railway Company for the sum of £40,000, gaining the line from the Point to Durban and from Durban to Umgeni. This move, inspired in part by the neighbouring Cape Prime Minister John Molteno’s 1873 establishment of the Cape Government Railways, was intended to drive the extension of Natal’s railways inland, towards the Drakensberg and eventually the Orange Free State. The Natal Government Railways also adopted the Cape gauge. In 1910 the Union of South Africa was formed and in 1912 the NGR combined with the other colonies' railway companies (Cape Government Railways and Central South African Railways) to form the South African Railways and Harbours (SAR & H)”.
