The handle http://hdl.handle.net/1887/56155 holds various files of this Leiden University dissertation

Author: Xiao, Y.
Title: Fate, accumulation and ecotoxicity of copper nanoparticles under environmentally relevant conditions
Issue Date: 2017-09-13
Acknowledgements

Time flies. The situation of my first day coming to the Netherlands on 30 Sep 2013 is still in my mind. The journey of PhD is not easy for me. During the journey, I have received much help and support from some people. I would like to express my gratitude to them.

I would like to express my sincere gratitude to my supervisors Prof. Willie Peijnenburg and Dr. Martina Vijver for their patient guidance during the whole PhD process. This thesis would not have been possible to complete without their inspiration, motivation and encouragement in all the time of my PhD research. I am also grateful to our dean Prof. Geert de Snoo and director Prof. Arnold Tukker for their feedback and suggestions on my thesis. My four-year life in the Netherlands was financially supported by the China Scholarship Council and hence special thanks go to my home country-China.

I would also acknowledge the committee members Prof. dr. A.A. Koelmans, Dr. ir. C.A.M. van Gestel, Prof. dr. A. Tukker, and Dr. Daniel Arenas Lago for reviewing my thesis and giving their valuable comments and suggestions on this thesis.

It is a pleasure to thank my CML colleagues: Roel Heutink, Susanna van den Oever, Joyce Glerum, Jory Sjardijn, Esther Philips, Maarten van’t Zelfde and Paul de Hoog for their assistance; Lan Song, Jing Hua, Hao Qiu, Mingming Hu, Kai Fang, Guangchao Chen, Yujia Zhai, Liangcheng Ye, Rong Yuan, Yingji Pan, Henrik Barmentlo, M. van Pomeren, Daniel Arenas Lago, Nadja Brun and Ellard Hunting for their help.

I am also grateful to my friends: Liang Zhou, Jing Shen, Fuyu Cai, Zhan Xiong, Junling He, Yanming Guo, Yun Yang, Zhenyu Xiao, Rui Zhang, Guansheng Du, Gang Chen, Hexi Shen and Ruobing Hna. My life in Leiden was joyful and colorful because of you.

Finally, my deep and sincere gratitude to my family for their continuous support and endless love. I especially thank my parents, sister and my beloved wife. I would not have made it this far without them, and I dedicate this thesis to them.

Yinlong Xiao

Sep 2017, Leiden