

Cover Page

Universiteit Leiden

The handle <http://hdl.handle.net/1887/65569> holds various files of this Leiden University dissertation.

Author: Casarotto, A.

Title: Spatial patterns in landscape archaeology : a GIS procedure to study settlement organization in early Roman colonial territories

Issue Date: 2018-09-18

Curriculum Vitae

Anita Casarotto was born on April 5th 1986 in Soave, province of Verona, Italy. From 2000 to 2005, she attended the Liceo Scientifico at the Istituto Magistrale Statale 'Guarino Veronese' (San Bonifacio, Verona). In February 2009, she obtained a Bachelor degree in Archaeology and, in October 2010, a Master degree (cum laude) in Archaeological Sciences, both at the University of Padova, Italy. To expand her knowledge and acquire further professional skills in the field of cultural resource management, she attended an Italian Specialization School in Archaeological Heritage for post-graduate students (Scuola di Specializzazione in Beni Archeologici, University of Padova, diploma received cum laude in March 2013). For her Specialization School thesis, Anita carried out research as an Erasmus student at the departmental unit of Computer Applications in Archaeology of the Faculty of Archaeology at Leiden University (The Netherlands), under the supervision of Dr. Hans Kamermans. Shortly after completing this School, in May 2013 she was appointed at the Faculty of Archaeology of Leiden University as a PhD researcher (Classical and Mediterranean Archaeology) in the NWO-funded project LERC – Landscapes of Early Roman Colonization, under the direction and supervision of Dr. Tessa D. Stek and Dr. Jeremia Pelgrom. During her PhD, Anita has been involved in the archaeological survey project in Venosa (Basilicata, Italy) and in the Tappino area (Molise, Italy) organized by LERC, she presented her research in several national and international conferences, and was research fellow at the Royal Netherlands Institute in Rome (KNIR).